

Giant Car Eating Cows This Way Go

The "Cooks Tour" complete we head up the pointy bit of FNQ (as in Far North Queensland not standing in the FNQ) in search of one more river to cross (another movie reference).

From Cooktown to Laura we travel through the lily filled lakes of Lakefield National Park and visit Isabella falls where at least one of the slower members of the party went in search of the mythical crocodile.

We checked in early at the Laura Hilton and back tracked toward Lakeland to check out the rock art. At $5 per head we were universally underwhelmed.

We had intended to travel the CREB track, however due to the late rains it was still closed, so I can't give Gary an update on its condition.
From here we head, you guessed it, north.
